CREEP FEEDS - ONE "SHOE" DOESN'T FIT ALL!

Written by Jarrett Hargrave, JFM Beef Sales Consultant

As we come up to pasture season and calves' energy requirements continue to grow you may want to start thinking about offering supplementation creep feeds to your calves.

Things to consider when choosing what creep feeds may be right for your operation may include the age of your calves, the current body condition, the cows milking ability, pasture hardness, and ultimately what your performance goals are.

JFM carries multiple options to help suit your specific needs and goals. Younger calves, typically born in the winter months see a large benefit to more energy dense calf starters such as our WSC16, this increase in energy is similar to what calves born on fresh spring pasture would receive through their dam's milk, opposed to cows milking on stored feeds. A great transition product, or product for calves demanding higher goals in terms of muscle development and skeletal growth is our TUFF STUFF pelleted creep feed. The elevated level of protein, minerals, vitamins make this a highly quality creep feed to help bring out the maximum potential in your calves. One of the most popular creep feed options utilized by JFM customers is the 13.5% protein 1600R/BBGP pellet, this product offers a higher fibre more economical creep feed to aid in growth, lowering the stress on pasture and cows. This product is more geared to later season creep feeding when grass starts to dry up, the calves are starting to get bigger in size and have increased energy requirements. The JFM Beef team is well versed in the creep feeding options and would be happy to line you up with the products that will help you reach your performance goals and protect your bottom line!
