JFM WELCOMES WAYNE BRUBACHER TO THE BEEF TEAM

Hi, I'm Wayne Brubacher and I'm very happy to be a new sales consultant with JFM. I feel that my past life experiences managing various livestock farms, my experience in the feed mill industry and my involvement in livestock feed sales makes me an excellent fit as a sales consultant. In the past I have managed large sow, chicken and turkey farms, I have also worked in the feed milling industry doing everything from batching and pelleting to bagging feed. I have been a production supervisor for a large sow loop as well as a livestock feed sales representative. I enjoy problem solving and as a sales consultant I know there will be challenges that arise, and I will do my best to solve them. If I don't immediately have an answer I have a full team of coworkers at JFM that I can lean on for help to come up with a solution. I look forward to helping my customers with their everyday livestock needs. My past skill set lets me help with most species. I reside in Ethel Ontario, with my lovely wife, Charlene of 33 years. I have 3 children Kristy, Brittany and Travis. When I have free time I enjoy tinkering with small engines, woodworking and building. We have two Haflinger horses which we enjoy riding and driving. We also do some camping with and without the horses. I am thankful for JFM for believing in me and making me part of their team. I look forward to getting and servicing new clients.

One of the best times to overseed your lawn is September through mid-October. Not only does it help produce a nice looking lawn; a thicker lawn will crowd out weeds. Fall seeding also allows seedlings to grow and establish through an autumn and spring season before reaching the hot summer weather. The Miller's Stone Store carries Speare Seeds in 55 lb bags, 10 lb bags and has a bulk bin for you to purchase the perfect amount for your seeding needs.

Corn Silage - When to Harvest?

With the variability in weather across Ontario this year, the JFM Sales and Nutrition Teams encourage producers looking to harvest corn silage to test the moisture content of their corn well ahead of harvest. The ideal moisture content for corn silage ranges from 62%-70% depending on your storage method. Some areas of the province are already harvesting, as they experienced severe drought conditions, where other areas of the province are seemingly normal; all hinting that the time to evaluate is now. Additionally, with the dry conditions throughout SW Ontario in August as well as the dry summer experienced in many parts on Ontario (western Ontario, near north regions, central and eastern Ontario), Jones Feed Mills recommends doing toxin testing on your silage, when submitting it for nutritional analysis, as nitrite levels may have increased through drought periods. High nitrate levels in corn silage can be toxic to livestock which can cause serious health issues or even death. Last, remember to ensure your kernel processor is set according to need before harvesting. Talk to your JFM sales consultant to discuss your harvest time, kernel processing and the threat of toxins.
